

---

Been knitting a long time, but...

Posted by thirtythree - 2011/05/28 18:42

---

youngknitter looking to learn and start a group. I live around Jefferson Park area in Chicago IL.:cheer:

=====

Re:Been knitting a long time, but...

Posted by mandylinda - 2011/07/05 01:04

---

Hi! I was very enthusiastic at first. But after several weeks, I got kind of tired and felt knitting boring. You know, I love knitting and don't mean to feed up with it nor give it up. So I quitted for sometime and went traveling during spare time. Now, when I come back, I feel new interest in knitting again. Traveling does help!

=====

Re:Been knitting a long time, but...

Posted by thirtythree - 2011/07/06 14:14

---

It gets frustating for me as well because I don't know patterns to do and the only thing I know how to knit are scarfs and plankts. I really want to learn all I can about knitting, but I don't know where I can go to learn from people and I can never understand the self teaching books.

I want to learn all kinds of patterns and how to make socks, sweaters ect.

Traveling does help to relax and find passion for things. It help to calm down to focus on things like reading or knitting.

=====